

NANCY ROSE

SPEAKER INTRODUCTION

Our speaker today is the author of the thought provoking book, Raise the Child You've Got—Not the One You Want.

Nancy Rose has been studying the power of acceptance in parent-child relationships ever since she awoke from what she calls her “trance of accomplishment,” realizing that she had become a high-powered tax attorney and CPA so her mother would like her.

She vowed that her two sons would never experience the pain she felt as a misunderstood child, and she’s here today to share that journey and teach us how to lead with acceptance as we raise our own children.

Her mission is to make sure that all children receive both the validation and the guidance they need in order to become the best version of who they are, rather than who they think they should be in order to be loved. Please welcome the Acceptance Advocate, Nancy Rose.
